II – ADMINISTRATION AND FUNCTION

The Society is composed of:

- National Society Sections
- A Committee of National Society Delegates
- A Board of Directors (BOD)

8. National Society Sections

Each National Society can nominate a Delegate and Deputy Delegate. Their function is to be the intermediate between the SIU and their National Society. The delegates may wish to organize a meeting to present and promote the SIU at their National level. The SIU will help to promote these activities.

Each National Society elects a Delegate and a Deputy Delegate who must be an SIU member in good standing to take office. The appointments are made by a majority of votes and for a period of two (2) years. Re-election can take place only once, the total serving time of a NS Delegate or Deputy Delegate in the same capacity being restricted to a maximum of four (4) years, unless authorized by the Board of Directors. Elected NS Delegates and Deputy Delegates automatically become members of the Committee of NS Delegates at the next World Congress. Matters considered of such importance as to be presented to the Board of Directors or to the General Assembly are referred by the NS Delegate or Deputy Delegate to the NS Delegate Representative on the SIU Board of Directors.

Should a National Society not wish to participate by nominating a Delegate or Deputy Delegate, the SIU members in good standing in the country which would otherwise be represented may elect a member who is also a member of the National Society to serve as NS Delegate and NS Deputy Delegate.

Each NS Delegate shall be considered a direct communication link to the parent body as represented by the General Secretary, and must submit the following:

- A summary of the meetings held by the National Society within six (6) weeks, as well as detailed information on any change of NS Delegate or Deputy Delegate status.
- Upon request from the Central Office, updates of the current membership of the National Society including the list of members, together with their addresses, names of those who are deceased, resigned and any other relevant change in contact information and status.

A National Society may propose its own country as a venue for a future Congress. Any such proposal must be submitted in writing by the NS Delegate to the Chairperson of the Congress Organization Committee.

When there is, or becomes, a vacancy in the position of NS Delegate for a National Society Section, by resignation, death or otherwise, the position shall normally be filled by a Deputy Delegate in good standing.

If no such Deputy Delegate is available, the Executive Committee of the SIU Board of Directors shall have the authority to appoint an Interim NS Delegate to serve until the next annual meeting of the National Urological Society, or other National Society Meeting where a new NS Delegate, and Deputy Delegate, if required, can be elected by the SIU Members in good standing of that NSS.

It will meet at the request of the Board of Directors between two World Congresses whenever necessary. In that event votes may be sent by post or electronic means.

- One (1) of the two (2) NS Delegates who act as members of the Nominating Committee.
- In each case, the terms of the two (2) delegates shall be staggered so that only one (1) is replaced or renewed at each General Assembly.
